

worship4today

A course for worship leaders and musicians

“All kinds of churches need help to train and resource worship leaders. Worship4Today is the best training material for leaders of worship I have ever come across.”

Revd Dr Steven Croft, Bishop of Sheffield

Nurturing a foundation of personal worship

Providing a biblical and historical background

Understanding worship styles across the church

Developing new expertise and practical skills

Exploring authentic worship for a mission-shaped church

Worship4Today is a highly successful one-year course and key resource for training worship leaders and musicians, with a proven track record in Sheffield Diocese. Worship4Today Parts 1 and 2 are already available with the final Part 3 due to be published later this year. The publication contains everything you need to run the course, including full teaching notes, handouts and PowerPoint presentations as well as useful information for setting up a diocesan, deanery or parish course. Although academically rigorous, the course is thoroughly practical with opportunity to apply learning straight away in carefully chosen small group tasks.

This course is particularly suitable for clergy or laity who might ...

- Wish to deepen their understanding of worship
- Already be involved in leading worship in their local church
- Sense a call to a ministry of leading others in worship
- Wish to improve their practical worship leading skills
- Wish to develop their musical understanding and level of musical competency

What course members say ...

"Brilliant course – a real asset to the Diocese and the wider Church."

"Inspirational."

"We are all so different and yet we are on a journey of discovery – together."

"This course has enabled me to have a firmer basis of the background and theory behind worship and its place in the Christian world."

worship4today

"I originally read about Worship4Today in the RSCM Church Music Quarterly and was immediately interested. It truly is as good as I dared to hope when I read the article. I am delighted to be taking the course back with me to the Liturgical Group in Cape Town."

Revd Keith Griffiths,
Christ Church, Constantia, South Africa

"Worship4Today is an inspirational resource for those called to lead worship in the local church, offering a superb foundation in the theology and practice of worship. I am delighted to be able to commend it."

Peter Moger
Canon Precentor at York Minster
And formerly National Worship Development Officer for the Church of England

"Thank you so much for a splendid day. So many thoughts rushed through my mind as we heard about the course and I'm eagerly anticipating using all the materials."

Jan Payne
Bishop's Adviser for Music, Ely Diocese
(Following a Worship4Today national training day)
